electronic submission are solely responsible for ensuring that any emails or attachments are not corrupted.

- c) For email proposal submissions, including any notices of amendment or withdrawal, the subject line of the email and any attachment should be clearly marked with the name of the Proponent, and the project or program title.
- d) The Proponent bears all risk associated with delivering its Proposal by electronic submission.

2.4 Additional Information

All Addenda will be posted on the Work Wellness Website. It is the sole responsibility of the Proponent to check for Addenda on the website. However, the Work Wellness Institute will endeavour to notify Proponent's of any change at the contact information provided.

2.5 Late Proposals

Proposals will be marked with their receipt time at the Closing Location. Only complete proposals received and marked before the Closing Time will be considered to have been received on time. Proposals received late will be marked late and not considered or evaluated.

2.7 Firm Pricing

Prices will be firm for the entire Contract period.

2.8 Completeness of Proposal

By submitting a proposal, the Proponent warrants that, the RFP is to design, create or provide a system, all components required to run the system or manage the program have been identified in the proposal or will be provided by the Contractor at no additional charge.

2.9 Changes to Proposals

By detailed written notice, the Proponent may amend or withdraw its proposal before the Closing Time.

2.10 Conflict of Interest/No Lobbying

- a) A Proponent may be disqualified if the Proponent's current or past corporate or other interests, or those of a proposed subcontractor, may, in The Work Wellness Institute opinion, give rise to an actual or potential conflict of interest in connection with the services described in the RFP. This includes, but is not limited to, involvement by a Proponent in the preparation of the RFP or a relationship with any employee, contractor or representative of The Work Wellness Institute. If a Proponent is in doubt as to whether there might be a conflict of interest, the Proponent should consult with the the Work Wellness Institute prior to submitting a proposal. By submitting a proposal, the Proponent represents that it is not aware of any circumstances that would give rise to a conflict of interest that is actual or potential, in respect of the RFP.
- b) A Proponent must not attempt to influence the outcome of the RFP process by engaging in lobbying activities. Any attempt by the Proponent to communicate for this purpose directly or indirectly, may result in disqualification of the Proponent.

2.11 Subcontractors

- a) Unless the RFP states otherwise, The Work Wellness Institute will accept proposals where more than one organization or individual is proposed to deliver the services described in the RFP, so long as the proposal identifies the lead entity that will be the Proponent and that will have sole responsibility to deliver the services under the Contract. The Work Wellness Institute will enter into a Contract with the Proponent only. The evaluation of the Proponent will include evaluation of the resources and experience of proposed sub-contractors, if applicable.
- b) All subcontractors, including affiliates of the Proponent, should be clearly identified in the proposal.

- c) A Proponent may not subcontract to a firm or individual whose current or past corporate or other interests, that may give rise to an actual or potential conflict of interest in connection with the services described in the RFP. By submitting a proposal, the Proponent represents that it is not aware of any circumstances that would give rise to a conflict of interest that is actual or potential, in respect of the RFP.
- d) Where applicable, the names of approved subcontractors listed in the proposal will be included in the Contract. No additional subcontractors will be added nor other changes made to this list in the Contract without the written consent of the Work Wellness Institute.

2.12 Evaluation

- a) Proposals will be assessed in accordance with the evaluation criteria. The Work Wellness Institute will be under no obligation to receive further information, whether written or oral, from any Proponent. The Work Wellness Institute is under no obligation to perform any investigations or to otherwise verify any statements or representations made in a proposal.
- b) The The Work Wellness Institute may consider and evaluate any proposals from jurisdictions beyond British Columbia suppliers on the same basis that local Proponents adhere.

2.13 Contract

- c) Written notice to a Proponent that it has been identified as the successful Proponent and the subsequent full execution of a written Contract will constitute a Contract for the goods or services, and no Proponent will acquire any legal or equitable rights or privileges relative to the goods or services until the occurrence of both such events.

2.14 Contract Finalization Delay

If a written Contract cannot be finalized with provisions satisfactory to The Work Wellness Institute within thirty days of notification of the successful Proponent, the Work Wellness Institute may, at its sole discretion at any time thereafter, terminate discussions with that Proponent and either commence finalization of a Contract with the next qualified Proponent or choose to terminate the RFP process and not enter into a Contract with any of the Proponents.

2.16 Proponents' Expenses

Proponents are solely responsible for their own expenses in participating in the RFP process, including costs in preparing a proposal and for subsequent finalizations. The Work Wellness Institute will not be liable to any Proponent for any claims, whether for costs, expenses, damages or losses incurred by the Proponent in preparing its proposal, loss of anticipated profit in connection with any final Contract, or any other matter whatsoever.

2.17 Limitation of Damages

By submitting a proposal, the Proponent agrees that it will not claim damages, for whatever reason, relating to the Contract or in respect of the competitive process, in excess of an amount equivalent to the reasonable costs incurred by the Proponent in preparing its proposal and the Proponent, by submitting a proposal, waives any claim for loss of profits if no Contract is made with the Proponent.

2.18 Liability for Errors

While The Work Wellness Institute has used considerable efforts to ensure information in the RFP is accurate, the information contained in the RFP is supplied solely as a guideline for Proponents. The information is not guaranteed or warranted to be accurate by The Work Wellness Institute, nor is it necessarily comprehensive or exhaustive. Nothing in the RFP is intended to relieve Proponents from forming their own opinions and conclusions with respect to the matters addressed in the RFP.

2.19 No Commitment to Award

The RFP should not be construed as an agreement to purchase goods or services. The lowest priced or any proposal will not necessarily be accepted. The RFP does not commit the The Work Wellness Institute in any way to award a Contract.

2.21 Legal Entities

The Work Wellness Institute reserves the right in its sole discretion to:

- a) Disqualify a proposal if The Work Wellness Institute is not satisfied that the Proponent is clearly identified;
- b) prior to entering into a Contract with a Proponent, request that the Proponent provide confirmation of the Proponent's legal status (or in the case of a sole proprietorship, the Proponent's legal name and identification) and certification in a form satisfactory to the The Work Wellness Institute that the Proponent has the power and capacity to enter into the Contract;
- c) not to enter into a Contract with a Proponent if the Proponent cannot satisfy the Work Wellness Institute that it is the same legal entity that submitted the Proponent's proposal; and
- d) require criminal record checks for a Proponent who is a natural person, subcontractors and key personnel before entering into a Contract and decline to enter into a Contract with a Proponent or to approve a subcontractor or key personnel that fail to pass the screenings to the Work Wellness Institute's satisfaction.

2.22 Reservation of Rights

In addition to any other reservation of rights set out in the RFP, the Work Wellness Institute reserves the right, in its sole discretion:

- a) to modify the terms of the RFP at any time prior to the Closing Time, including the right to cancel the RFP at any time prior to entering into a Contract with a Proponent;

- b) in accordance with the terms of the RFP, to accept the proposal or proposals that it deems most advantageous to itself;
- c) to request clarifications from a Proponent with respect to its proposal, including clarifications as to provisions in its proposal that are conditional or that may be inconsistent with the terms and conditions of the RFP, without any obligation to make such a request to all Proponents, and consider such clarifications in evaluating the proposal;
- d) at any time, to reject any or all proposals; and
- e) at any time, to terminate the competition without award and obtain the goods and services described in the RFP by other means or do nothing.

2.23 Ownership of Proposals

All proposals and other records submitted to the Work Wellness Institute in relation to the RFP become the property of the Work Wellness Institute and, will be held in confidence.

3 SITUATION/OVERVIEW

3.1 Work Wellness Institute Overview

The Work Wellness and Disability Prevention Institute, conducting business as The Work Wellness Institute (WWi), is a not-for-profit organization founded in 1985 as an applied research centre investigating chronic disease and the treatment of pain. In response to industry and community needs, we sharpened our organizational focus on workplace health and the transfer of research into practice. As an organization, we are committed to our core purpose of conducting and supporting global research and mobilizing knowledge that positively impacts workplace health practices.

The Work Wellness Institute's vision is to create safe, healthy and inclusive workplaces by turning research into practice. Working with multidisciplinary stakeholders in the public and private sectors to build and share the latest research on work wellness, we aim to foster a culture of lifelong learning.

Our current products and services include webinars, panels, conferences, subject matter expert presentations and interviews, self-paced courses and facilitated workshops, currently all hosted and completed virtually. The products are aimed at a variety of audiences including: Leaders, managers, HR professionals, employees with disabilities, vocational rehabilitation professionals and labour organizations to help educate them in best practices for healthy workplaces.

As a key deliverable of current funding programs, the Work Wellness Institute develops both self-paced and live-online facilitated courses, that are aligned with the current needs of employers in order to support their employees through a time of continual shifts in the workplace. These courses will address specific needs in supporting employers in building process and policy within disability management to accommodate, recruit and retain employees with disabilities.

3.2 Background

Through the Work Wellness Institute programming, evidence-based resources will be made available to employers across Canada. The design, development and delivery of resources will lay a foundation for future methods of quickly transferring knowledge and skills when they are needed most – reliable, credible and easily accessed.

Covid-19 has also created an uncertain landscape of disruption and new tools are required to support employment of people living with disabilities. Leveraging funds secured, stakeholder input, project experience and recent Covid-19 related activity, WWi programming has the potential to directly reduce the negative impact of the current global health crisis and form new vehicles of knowledge mobilization for the future.

Deliverables will be aimed at organizational leaders and employers to educate them in best practices around supporting employees, with a focus on connecting employers and employees with disabilities. We will be working with subject matter experts, content developers, curriculum developers and a media production company to rapidly produce courses and resources.

Final content will be available through the WWi website, Learning Management System, Thinkific, and WWi App.

Education Resource Deliverables will target skills, knowledge acquisition and confidence in the following areas:

- Helping employers set up accessible, effective, and flexible work-from-home measures
- Providing employer-focused supports to create inclusive workplaces, whether virtual or physical
- Connecting people with disabilities, including those working from home, and employers
- Understanding and capability for employers in creating recruitment and retention policies and processes for their employees with disabilities throughout economic disruption
- Training for in-demand jobs

WWi's Project Objectives are to:

- Track the dissemination and uptake of resources through an expanded network while identifying the formats and efficiencies that will drive increased awareness and mobilize key evidenced-informed knowledge and skills to the end-user.
- Develop, implement, evaluate and scale-up innovative, evidence informed solutions to foster job recruitment and retention for people with visible and invisible disabilities.
- Research the process of rapid project design, implementation and evaluation. Covid-19 has required rapid response in the field of research and policy design and there are lessons to be learned regarding the challenges of this approach and the frameworks and foundations required to strengthen Canada's response to ongoing and future disruption.
- Provide information to support safe, healthy and inclusive workspaces through and beyond a global pandemic. We will do this by:
 - Creating online courses and resources that use timely, high-quality research that show case best practices.
